

The Bookstore

Riddle me confused.

How to Bake by Ba K. Er

I sweeten everything in a natural way.

Beverages Through the Centuries by Drin K. Er

I'm ancient, from Asia.

Ornithology for Beginners by Bi R. Ds

I'm flightless, but at least I run fast.

The Emotion Dictionary by Wor D. Smith

I have four letters and describe extreme anger, but people can also fly into me.

The Secret Romantics by Love S. Ick

It's me and ____, forever.

Life in the Prairie by Gr A. Ss

I hop, hop, hop, I have long ears, and I have six letters.

Scary Birds by Fea R. Ful

Sometimes I'm bald, but sometimes I'm just a massive and scary bird of prey.

Flowers and Fields by Ga R. Den

I am a fragile yellow thing, but when I'm in my white form, I can be easily blown away.

Etiquette by Man N. Ers

I sit quietly folded until mealtime, and then I clean up your individual messes.

Fruits by Cit R. Us

I'm a lovely little fruit, and I have the same name as the color of a traffic cone.

Biology for the Concerned by Gen I. Us

I am an action that you do every night, and I help you recharge for the next day.

Welcome to Africa by Saf A. Ri

I have really large ears, and also a trunk.

Literature for the Curious by No V. El

I am a collection of pages, the very thing sold at the store you are currently visiting.

Jewelry in the Modern World by Spa R. Kle

I am worn on a finger, and I am often made of metal and diamonds.

Breakfast Foods by Kit C. Hen

I am healthy for the eater, and am made of oats. Some people may take me with milk or fruits.

Architectural Basics by Buil D. Er

I am the very tall thing that divides two rooms, but I do not swing open.

How to Dress for All Situations by Fas H. Ion

I'm a dress, but you wear me when it's time to sleep.

I come from a _ _ _ _ and I have a _ _ _ _ although I look mostly _ _ _ _ . My name is _____ (one word).